RUSSIA TO PAY WELL FOR BEING WHIPPED

Total Cost of War With Japan, $1,050,000,000, Revealed for First Time by Official Budget Statement Issued Last Night. Some Interesting Figures.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 11.—The budget statement for 1906, which was issued tonight, shows that it will be necessary to raise $249,500,000 by credit operations to balance the estimated receipts and expenditures. The latter include $202,500,000 for the liquidation of the expenses of the Russo-Japanese war, the repatriation of the troops in the far east and the reduction of the army to a peace footing. For the first time the total cost of the war, $1,050,000,000, is revealed.

The credit operations to balance the budget include the recent authorization of $200,000,000 in treasury bonds, $75,000,000 of which have already been used to renew the Mendelssohn loan and the credit of $150,000,000, which finance Minister Kokovsoff is now negotiating in Paris.

The budget also deals frankly with the heavy drain on the gold reserve of the state bank balances abroad which have fallen $152,500,000 in the three months preceding January 1. During the last ten days of the year the gold reserve was reduced by $30,500,000, while the issue of paper currency was increased by $20,000,000.

The increase of paper issued, the statement says, was made by the bank in an effort to come to the rescue of the business interests which were almost paralyzed and which had been refused loans by private banks owing to the panicky conditions and to the reduction of the foreign credits of houses with connections abroad. The statement had this to say of the monetary situation:

"Such a state of affairs could not fail to inspire disquietude for our monetary system was measured simultaneously by the diminution of the stock of gold resulting from withdrawals which the bank was powerless to prevent and by the exodus of capital abroad and the increase of paper circulation, the latter being due to the necessities of the interior. It is permitted, however, to hope, thanks to the restoration of calm, that the causes which influenced the withdrawals of gold will cease and that coin will soon begin to return to the bank."

The statement concludes with the following statement to the emperor, which was evidently penned by Count Witte:

"These facts and figures submitted to

J., to secure the $150,000 note which he gave the New York Life in part payment for moneys which have been advanced by the company to Andrew Hamilton and not yet returned by Hamilton. The total amount advanced to Hamilton was $236,000, and in addition to this note Mr. McCall gave the company a check for $85,000. The deed to his home is made jointly with his wife and covers a handsome country seat comprising about 50 acres.

DISCUSSED THE NEGRO PROBLEM

SOUTHERN COTTON GROWERS ARGUE MERITS OF THE COLORED MAN AS A LABORER IN THE SOUTH.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 11.—With a large and representative attendance from the cotton growing states, the Southern Cotton Growers association opened a three days' session here today.

Charles Scott of Rosedale, Miss., speaking of foreign labor in southern cotton fields, said the conclusion could not be avoided that the negro laborer in the south had finally become a general and woeful failure. Mr. Scott gave the results of three months' study in Europe last year in an effort to find a solution for the labor situation in his own state. He gave reasons for believing that only to Italy could the south look for an avenue of escape from its difficulties.

Mr. Clarkson of Tennessee, gave some figures to show that the wonderful development of the south since the war had been made with negro labor. He believed large importations of Italians would prove a source of great danger to the south and believed the opportunity still existed to make the negro the best laborer on the face of the globe. A. Tompkins, of Charlotte, N. C., spoke on "Cotton Values in Textile Fabrics."

SUGGESTION FOR RELIGIOUS LIBERTY TO BE WITHHELD

ROME, Jan. 11.—The Vatican for the moment has abandoned the idea of presenting to the Moroccan conference at Algeciras a proposition for religious liberty in Morocco. It fears a repetition of what happened in the Madrid conference of 1880, when a similar proposition was not approved because it was considered to be outside the business of the conference.

LAYS BLAME TO COMMISSIONERS

DISTRICT ATTORNEY WANTS THEM REMOVED FOR NEGLIGENCE IN PROVIDENT COMPANY CASE.

BOSTON, Jan. 11.—As a result of the investigation today of the suspension of the Provident and Security Co-Banking company of this city District Attorney Moran tonight sent a letter to Governor Guild asking that the Massachusetts savings bank commissioners be removed from office.

In his letter Mr. Moran charges that the commissioners, James Out of Malden, Frederick B. Washburn of Wellesley Hills, and Warren A. Lock of Norwood, were grossly careless and wilfully negligent in connection with the affairs of the Provident company and other institutions. Mr. Moran maintains that the savings bank commissioners had full power, under the law of 1902, to inquire into the affairs of the company and that if they had done so they would have uncovered the condition of affairs which has been revealed by the suspension, and thus have prevented loss affecting over 8,000 depositors, the majority of whom are laboring men and women and children.

COL. H. C. CASNER LOSES COMMAND

Springs Companies of First Regiment U. R. K. of P., Threaten Open Revolt and Say They Will Aid in Organizing Independent Regiment.

Col. H. C. Casner has been officially removed from command of the First regiment, Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, Colorado. Major Robert [illegible] H. Casner's appointee, No. 2, and Captain John Grant of Pike's Peak company No. 10, has received special order No. 12 from Brigadier General Charles E. Pfaffin, announcing the fact. Colonel Pfaffin's order is based on special order No. 1 from Major General A. J. Stobart of St. Paul, which informs the brigade commander of Colonel Casner that he has been suspended in order removing Col. Casner.

This would end a controversy of two years standing in the circles of some 3,000 but the local Pythians are far from being satisfied. In fact, Captain Alex Reibe of the Colorado Springs company No. 2, gave it out cold last night that the two local companies had agreed not to recognize Gen. Pfaffin or Major General Stobbart so long as Pfaffin has anything to do with the Colorado command. He stated that they would ignore Gen. Pfaffin would act independently with Col. H. C. Casner as their commanding officer. Captain Reibe held stated that he and others believed that possibly the local companies would be supported in such a movement by a large number of the other companies in the state and that Pfaffin might find himself deserted by all the companies of the First regiment. The local Knights say that Pfaffin never could have been elected if it had not been for Col. Casner's influence and that they will support Casner to the last. When Col. Casner was removed by Pfaffin some weeks ago, the local companies refused to recognize any other commanding officer and his lieutenant colonel refused to accede to the command. They passed resolutions of confidence in Col. Casner and he was invited to lead the Casner company's grand march at the Christmas ball at the Antlers after an invitation extended to Pfaffin had been withdrawn.

Col. Casner of the First brigade was located at Colorado Springs. From there he removed to Greeley, which is out of his district. This was one of the reasons of removal. A second charge was that he allowed the number of companies to fall below the number required by the order. Every regiment must be made up of eight companies, but Col. Casner allowed his to fall to seven.

The third charge was that Mr. Casner had failed to turn over certain funds he collected to the order.

When relieved by Gen. Pfaffin, Mr. Casner raised the point that the former was without authority to issue an order to relieve him.

HAZING TRIAL NEARING END

EVIDENCE-TAKING ENDED—ARGUMENTS OF JUDGE ADVOCATE AND COUNSEL TO BE HEARD TODAY.

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 11.—The last stages, except the argument of counsel and of the judge advocate, were completed this afternoon in the case of Midshipman Decatur, charged before a naval court martial with hazing. The accused occupied the stand for about three-quarters of an hour and his testimony is regarded as having strengthened his case.

Decatur was questioned as to the facts in regard to all the specifications alleged against him. He denied sending Fourth Classman Roberts to a room, in which were upper classmen, to deliver the message: "If she had been a dog do you think she would have done it in this way?" He also denied ever having Charles C. Malley bring his breakfast. The accused was next examined regarding the facts alleged in the last specification, and in which "encouraging and countenancing" is made a dismissal offense.

"I told Church to report to my room," Decatur said, "because he had laughed in ranks and I wished to reprimand him. When he came I was standing in the other part of the room talking to a number of midshipmen, and I did not take any particular notice of him. I do not remember that I said anything to him at all, but I remember that some one said something to him about getting in the closet. Church went into the closet but I do not know what he did in there. He stayed there about three minutes."

Both the judge advocate and the counsel for the defense announced that they would produce no more witnesses. The court then adjourned until tomorrow.

GIVE MONEY OR LOSE BUSINESS

SAYS SECRETARY WILSON, WHO INSISTS IT IS NECESSARY TO HAVE ADDITIONAL INSPECTORS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—"Unless congress speedily grants the emergency appropriation of $125,000 requested by me for additional inspectors and microscopists, it is probable that over $5,000,000 worth of orders for pork and beef products placed by German dealers will go unfilled."

This statement was made by Secretary Wilson today. Anticipating the high rates of duty on products emanating from the United States imposed by the new German tariff, which will become effective March 1, next, and Germany at the present time being in urgent need of meat supplies, Secretary Wilson said that German dealers have flooded the packing houses of this country with orders.

He declared that he was asking only for an emergency appropriation to meet the conditions which an enormously increased business of the last few months, with no increase in the inspection force, has created.

OPPOSES OPENING OF RESERVATION UNLESS RAILWAY IS EXTENDED

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 11.—Governor Brooks has issued a statement declaring himself opposed to the plan of opening the Shoshone Indian reservation in June unless the Northwestern railway extends its line to Lander, on the border of the reservation. The present proposed terminus of the road is Shoshone, but the governor is urging for a further extension because of the primitive and undeveloped condition of Shoshone and the surrounding country.

LIVES AND WEALTH LOST BY FIRE

GREENVILLE, Pa., Jan. 11.—Fire, starting from an explosion, destroyed the works of the Carnegie Steel company here tonight, entailing a loss of between $400,000 and $600,000.

A flue in the boiler of a heating furnace blew out, deluging the furnace below, which exploded, scattering fire in all directions. The force of the explosion was so great that fireballs were lodged in the roof of the 16-inch finishing department and the flames spread rapidly.

Within 10 minutes after the explosion there was no hope of saving what is known as the old mill. A half hour later a strong wind swept the flames into the new tandem mill, shipping sheds and boiler houses.

The plant is out of the city water district and the hose had to be laid long distances and availed nothing against the flames. Much of the machinery will not be hopelessly destroyed, and the foundations, hotbeds, etc., are uninjured. The loss of product will be serious, as the plant was running day and night on high grade work.

Four hundred men are thrown out of work.

Three Men Lose Lives in Catastrophe at Tamarack Copper Mine and the Loss May Amount to Millions.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 11.—A special to the Sentinel from Calumet, Mich., says:

The Tamarack Copper mine, the deepest in the world, is on fire, with three men missing and almost certain to have met death in a horrible form half a mile below the earth's surface.

Shaft No. 2 where the fire was discovered, has been sealed over at the surface with heavy timbers tamped with clay, and also shaft No. 3. It may become necessary to close shaft No. 5, also, to smother the flames. The mine contains several hundred million feet of timber, largely pine, and unless the access of air is shut off the property will be damaged to the extent of many millions.

Nine Prisoners Escape During Fire Which Damaged Factory and Jail in Virginia—Property Loss of $100,000.

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 11.—A fire that originated by spontaneous combustion tonight in the four story peanut factory of the Norfolk Storage company on Plum street, between the city jail and the big foundry of Whitehurst & Co., entirely destroyed that building, damaged the east wing of the jail and falling walls crushed the foundry like an eggshell.

All of the 200 prisoners in the jail were marched to the police barracks under a guard of police, but nine escaped before they had been transferred to rooms in the court house when the flames endangered the barracks. Among these is Solomon Greenstein, held for perjury in the United States court.

Mayor Riddick called out four companies of the Seventy-First regiment and they are now guarding the prisoners in court house square.

For a time the business section of the city was dangerously threatened. No fatalities occurred, but several people were injured. The loss will be over $100,000. Ten thousand bags of peanuts were destroyed with a great amount of valuable machinery.

CORONER'S JURY HAS ADJOURNED

INVESTIGATION OF HAAST MURDER CASE CONTINUED TO JANUARY 26—NEW EVIDENCE SECURED.

WRAY, Colo., Jan. 11.—At the request of the district attorney the coroner's jury investigating the Gertrude Haast murder, today adjourned to January 26.

Attorney Ralph Talbot declares that enough new evidence has been secured in the past 24 hours to hold one or more parties for the crime.

Garrett W. Van Wyk is still in jail and his wife is being detained until the result of the jury's findings is announced.

A committee headed by Miss Carrie Brown and Ernest Smith, who live in the neighborhood of the Garrett Van Wyk ranch, 16 miles from Wray, waited upon County Judge Hendrie today and informed that official that the little 15-months-old child of Gertrude Haast is being shamefully neglected. The judge asked the Humane society of Denver to investigate.

SAYS PAPERS MAKE STATEMENTS TENDING TO PREVENT PEACE

LONDON, Jan. 11.—Lord Avebury, who is chairman of the committee to promote Anglo-German accord, sent out under the covering of a letter tonight a remarkable communication addressed to the press, signed by 41 of the most prominent persons engaged in science, literature, art and the learned professions of Germany, protesting against the statements circulated in certain papers tending to create a sentiment which "would render difficult and perhaps impossible the task of those responsible for peace between the two countries."

WALL STREET AS DICTATOR

HEPBURN PLEADS FOR LEGISLATION THAT WOULD ROB IT OF EVIL POWER.

THREATENS DISASTER WHEN IT CANNOT DICTATE FINANCIAL COURSE OF THE GOVERNMENT.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Before going into executive session today the senate listened to a speech by Mr. Hepburn in support of the bill creating a national board for the control of corporations, in which he denounced Wall Street because of its alleged interference with the affairs of the country. He said that when the "Street" could not dictate the financial course of the government it was ever ready to threaten disaster, and he pleaded for legislation that would rob it of such power for evil.

The remainder of the open session was devoted to a discussion of the practice by the senate of sending senate resolutions to the calendar after they have been once under discussion. Mr. Bacon raised the point that there was no rule requiring such a course, and urged that his Moroccan resolution had been improperly placed on the calendar. He also contended that the resolution had not had a day's discussion. The matter was not disposed of in open session. The senate adjourned until Monday.

C. S. SPRAGUE, FORMERLY OF COLORADO SPRINGS, BUYS THE GOLDFIELD NEWS FOR $28,000

Special to The Gazette.

GOLDFIELD, Nev., Jan. 11.—Charles Sprague of Colorado Springs, one of the founders of the Evening Telegraph and afterward associated with the Mining Investor of that city, today bought the Goldfield News for $28,000.

The News was owned by James F. O'Brien, another former Colorado newspaper man well known in Cripple Creek and Ward. The News was launched in a tent on April 28, 1903, with only a handful of type and the owner went in debt for all the machinery. Last year the paper netted $50,000 for Mr. O'Brien, who began his career here as a special correspondent, on a salary. He now retires on account of ill health, having made a fortune. The News is rated as one of the best mining papers in the United States.

Mr. Sprague is distinguished as being the youngest internal revenue collector ever appointed. He was named to that position in Ohio when he was 22 years old.

During his newspaper career in Colorado Springs, Mr. Sprague became known as one of the best newspaper men in this region. He was elected to the legislature and after serving a term as representative became news editor of the Rocky Mountain News. This position he resigned several months ago to go to Nevada.

VICTOR'S REQUEST FOR WATER INVOLVES END OF LITIGATION

Action Deferred by the City Council Until Meeting Tonight—Victor Officials to See Town's Attorneys in Pueblo Today With Reference to Ending Cases Now in Court.

At the special meeting of the city council held yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, Mayor Cunningham and Alderman Dray of Victor requested, on behalf of the people of Victor, that this city give them enough water to tide them over a scarcity. Action was deferred until this evening, pending efforts to end existing litigation.

In addressing the council, Mayor Cunningham said that the town of Victor is greatly in need of water for domestic purposes. Their Bison park reservoir is full of water, but it is unfit to drink. No. 2 reservoir, on Beaver creek, has a capacity of 69,000,000 gallons, but it is nearly empty, and Victor has been obliged to use a small portion of the water from the Bison park reservoir.

Wants 60,000,000 Gallons.

If we had 60,000,000 gallons of water in our No. 2 reservoir we could get along," said Mayor Cunningham, "and I am here to ask the people of Colorado Springs to let us have that amount." Mr. Cunningham realized that there had been some friction between the former city council of Victor and the city of Colorado Springs over the water rights owned by each municipality, but he believed the matter might be settled in some manner without further recourse to the courts.

"Since taking office last spring," he said, "I have felt that the litigation between Victor and Colorado Springs should be settled out of court and I do not see why some arrangement cannot be made. In this feeling I have the support of the entire council of Victor. I am going to Pueblo tonight to have a talk with Attorney Dubbs of Devine & Dubbs, who is representing Victor in the pending litigation, and believe that some arrangement can be reached for the disposition of the case without the aid of the courts."

A resolution passed by the Victor city council Wednesday night giving Mayor Cunningham full authority to settle the difficulties between Victor and Colorado Springs in such a manner as seemed just, and authorizing him to arrange for securing water from the Springs reservoir No. 8, was handed to the clerk's desk and read.

City's Present Supply.

Mayor Henry C. Hall called upon Water Superintendent J. A. Hopkins for a statement of the condition of the city water reserve at the present time.

Mr. Hopkins said that just now the city has on hand, in Lake Moraine, 550,000,000 gallons; in reservoir No. 8, 250,000,000 gallons; in reservoir No. 2, 97,000,000 gallons, making a total of 697,000,000 gallons of water in reserve, and to this might be added 100,000,000 gallons in reservoirs Nos. 4 and 5. This city uses a daily average of 7,000,000 gallons of water. While the snowfall this winter had been very light, the superintendent has no fear of a water shortage, but it is impossible to tell what might happen between now and spring. All the streams below Lake Moraine are now frozen, and the supply for daily consumption is being drawn from Lake Moraine.

In reply to a question from Mayor Hall, Mr. Hopkins said the distance from No. 8 reservoir to the Victor No. 2 reservoir is about three miles and that one-half of the water, if turned out of No. 8 for Victor, would freeze before it reached the Victor reservoir. In any event, it would be necessary to have a force of men on the ground to keep the channel clear and allow the water to flow freely down the gulch.

Pending Litigation

In response to inquiries from various aldermen, Attorney Henry McAllister, Jr., made a statement as to the condition of the litigation between the two cities. The suit was started by Victor at the time that Sherman Bell sent a force of millmen to the reservoirs at

PASSENGERS IN PULLMAN HURT

SLEEPER DROPPED OFF ELEVATED TRACKS AND SOME FIFTEEN FEET—NO FATALITIES.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 11.—While a Wabash passenger train was passing on the elevated tracks at Carr street, a Pullman sleeping car attached to the train, due at Union station at 7.30 a. m., dropped side ways fifteen feet to the granite paving of the levee. Ten persons were injured, one seriously, as follows:

I. Regenburg, New York, head cut.

Mrs. D. Furay, Chicago, rib broken.

J. W. Patterson, Milwaukee, arm broken, head cut, rib broken, unable to speak.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Pomeroy, Chicago; Mrs. Pomeroy injured internally.

Charles E. Suttole, Providence, R. I., back wrenched.

Mrs. Lorenzo Dowmore, St. Louis, arm, side and chest bruised and cut.

Catherine Pomeroy, Chicago, nose lacerated.

The remainder of the train continued on to Union station. Workmen in nearby warehouses and factories broke open the vestibule of the sleeper, and carried out the injured.

There were thirteen passengers in the car, twelve adults and a little girl. Among the passengers were General Manager Henry Miller of the Wabash, and Vice President Allen, of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas. They escaped injury. The Pullman was the last car and the breaking of its coupling prevented other cars from being dragged down when it jumped the track. The front end of the car struck on a pile of lumber and was stove in. The car was otherwise partially smashed. The iron and woodwork of the elevated structure was bent.

ARCHITECT ARRESTED ON A MURDER CHARGE

DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 11.—Charged with having set fire to the Knepfley building last Tuesday in which two lives were lost and a number of persons were injured, R. H. Sitven, a well-known architect and an occupant of the building, was arrested tonight on a warrant sworn out by Chief of Police Keith charging murder. The affidavit charged the murder of Bernard F. Philipson, whose lifeless body was found in a closet on the third floor, by setting fire to the building. The architect's office was on the second floor. It is said the fire had its origin in his room.

Owning our water, gas, street cars, telephones, etc., isn't thought much of in America.

In England, cities make money out of it—lots of money—and the public gets better service.

SPENT DAY IN MANEUVERING

QUESTION OF CAMPAIGN CAPITAL SURMERGES TARIFF PROBLEM IN HOUSE.

DEBATE ON BILL TO CLOSE TOMORROW AND CLOTURE GOES ON PASSAGE MONDAY.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. The Philippine tariff debate in the house today consisted more of party maneuvering for advantageous campaign material than of discussion of the question at issue.

The tariff was the text of a speech by Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, who began the debate, and of an extended reply by Mr. Williams, the minority leader. The speech of Mr. Grosvenor was spiced with witticisms and enlivened by interruptions of Champ Clark, at whom Mr. Grosvenor aimed most of his arguments.

Mr. Williams outlined again the specific tariff doctrine of the Democratic party and held that the Republican tariff was not, as so often claimed, responsible for the prosperity of the country. To prove this he cited the prosperity of Canada, Mexico and other countries at the present time and the business depression of these countries during the hard times of 1893.

Mr. Adams of Wisconsin opposed the bill, but advocated a readjustment of the tariff on business principles.

Mr. McKinley of California, delivered his first speech in the house in favor of the pending measure and pointed a finger of warning toward the growing industries of Japan.

The debate on the bill undoubtedly will close with the session of Saturday and the measure be put on its passage Monday.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The senate began its session today by adopting a motion offered by Mr. Aldrich, that when the senate adjourned today it be until Monday next.

INSURGENTS BUSY ON THE STATEHOOD BILL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Fifty Republican representatives are now said by insurgents in the house to have signed the pledge to vote against any rule prohibiting amendments to the Hamilton joint statehood bill. Several members have been won over by the insurgents since yesterday and they are confident their number will be swelled to 65 before the week is ended. The Republicans who are supporting the Hamilton bill insist that the bottom has dropped out of the insurgent movement completely.

BILL TO AUTHORIZE LEGAL PROCEEDINGS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Senator Clark of Wyoming, chairman of the judiciary committee, introduced a bill today authorizing the attorney general, solicitor general and other officials of the department of justice to begin and conduct any kind of legal proceedings, civil or criminal, in any court of any judicial district or before any quasi-judicial body, whether or not they reside in the judicial district where such proceedings are brought.

BACON'S MOROCCAN RESOLUTION IS LEFT ON THE CALENDAR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—In secret session today the senate discussed the status of Senator Bacon's Moroccan resolution for three hours and in the end it was left on the calendar.

Vice President Fairbanks declared that his course in placing the resolution on the calendar had been the universal practice, and he produced as a precedent a ruling made by Vice President Morton in an identical situation.

Senators Teller and Morgan defended the contention of Senator Bacon that the resolution had been placed on the calendar wrongly. The effect of the decision is to leave the resolution on the calendar where it must remain until taken therefrom by a majority vote or unanimous consent and therefore will prevent its consideration by the senate or by a senatorial committee.

your majesty show that the present situation of Russian finances is none too favorable. This state of things is the result of the war and of the troubles which followed. These troubles are of a temporary character and it is fair to assume that they will be ameliorated in the near future. Periods of economic depression, history proves, are ordinarily followed by periods of activity and prosperity. Conditions favorable for the appearance of a period of fruitful work must be perceived even amid the gloom of the present hour. With each day the popular conscience must be awakened more and more to a realization of the true material needs of the fatherland.

"The awakening of these social forces has a sure guarantee in the independence granted to a Russian nation by your august will and in the equality before the law which has been assured to all your majesty's subjects."

The budget for 1906 estimates the ordinary revenue at $1,613,929,857 and the ordinary expenditures at $1,369,098,275. The total revenue and expenditure balance at $1,255,486,387.

The following in round numbers are included in the receipts:

Direct taxes, $74,000,000; indirect taxes, $212,000,000; duties, $54,000,000; state monopolies, $320,500,000; state domains, $291,000,000.

The extraordinary expenditures, in round numbers include:

For the Russo-Japanese war, $202,500,000; for the building of railroads, $21,000,000; for the relief of the sufferers from the bad harvests, $10,000,000.

In the budget statement it is announced that manifestoes will be issued giving the nation the right to participate in the examination of future budgets. This, therefore, will be the last budget to be examined solely by the council of the empire without the cooperation of an elective council. It is further stated that the surplus for 1905 will be greater than was at first estimated.

CURES CATARRH AND ASTHMA.

Foreign Specialists Give Reason for Marvelous Success of New Remedy Ascatco.

VIENNA, Jan. 11.—The astonishing success of the ascatco treatment for catarrh, asthma and bronchitis is wholly attributed to its marvelous action on the mucous membranes and having no disturbing influence on other organs of the body.

It is claimed by European savants, from whom this remedy emanated, that 500 drops will permanently cure even the most obstinate case. The dose is small and pleasant to take, being only seven drops twice daily. The Austrian dispensary, 32 West 25th street, New York city, will send a trial treatment of ascatco free by mail to all sufferers who have not tested the wonderful curative powers of this specific.

Empson's is like the hominy your mother and your mother's mother used to make—distinctively different; deliciously better."

have proven the efficacy of this method of treatment. When a member of the staff of New York Doctors returned from the East over a year ago and established what was known as the Transfusion Method for curing consumption, a great many people were skeptical as to the results from this treatment, but after a year's trial of the treatment all that is changed, and the utmost confidence is placed where skepticism reigned.

TRANSFUSION METHOD.

This process consists in the joint action of static electric currents of high tension, passed through the body, and a sufficient quantity of an antiseptic which is transfused by the action of the currents to the seat of the disease, this joint action producing the destruction of the bacilli.

As it is well known, static currents of high tension ozonize the surrounding air when discharged silently through the same. It is also well known that the bacillus tuberculosis is about the same whether oxygen is applied or withheld. Notwithstanding this, the ozonized air produced by the silent discharge of static currents of high tension are beneficial when inhaled by the patient, because the dead bacilli in the lungs are burnt up by the oxygen of the atmospheric air inhaled, in the same manner as waste tissue brought to the lungs by the circulating blood, and as this waste tissue, when destroyed in the lungs, is exhaled in the form of carbonic acid gas and aqueous vapor, the dead bacilli are likewise burned and exhaled in the form of carbonic acid gas and water. In case part of the air is ozonized, then the third and loose atom of oxygen in the ozone greatly facilitates the combustion of the waste tissue and of the dead bacilli. Of course it is understood that the diseased parts of the lungs on which the bacilli have been acting are greatly consumed and exhaled in the same manner as the waste tissue and the dead bacilli. After the bacilli have been killed by the joint action of the static currents of high tension and the antiseptics, by this process, the parts of the lungs adjoining the seat of the disease will not be further attacked, but, in order to heal the lungs and produce a positive and lasting cure, as the success of this method has proven, it was found necessary to apply healing agents to the lungs, after the bacilli were destroyed. It is therefore for that purpose that we force into the lungs, by compressed air, through inhalation, certain antiseptic and healing oils. These remedies, coupled with systematic breathing exercise, and the use of the Finsen-Ultra Violet ray, effect a complete cure, and a patient so cured can safely live in any climate.

This institution is under the management of the New York Doctors, a staff of specialists of unequaled ability in this country. They treat all chronic diseases of men, women and children. They invite the chronic sufferer to visit them at their offices. They make no charge for consultation or examination, prepare and furnish all medicines, ask no questions concerning your complaint, but make a thorough scientific search for the trouble, and when located, exhibit thoroughly your condition.

INTERESTING FACTS.

For Nearly Every Man, Woman or Child.

A short time ago we published an article recommending to our readers the new discovery for the cure of Dyspepsia, called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and the claims then made regarding the wonderful curative properties of the remedy have been abundantly sustained by the facts. People who were cautious about trying new remedies advertised in the newspapers and were finally induced to give Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets a trial were surprised and delighted at the results. In many cases a single package costing but 50 cents at any drug store made a complete cure and in every instance the most beneficial results were reported. From a hundred or more received we have space to publish only a few of the latest, but assure our readers we receive so many commendatory letters that we shall publish each week a fresh list of genuine, unsolicited testimonials and never publish the same one twice.

From James Yemmeister, La Crosse, Wis.: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are doing me more good than anything I ever tried, and I was so pleased at results that I gave away several boxes to my friends who have also had the same benefits.

From Jacob Anthony, Portmurray, New Jersey: I have taken Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with the best results. I had Dyspepsia for 6 years, and had taken a great deal of medicine, but the Tablets seem to take right hold and I feel good. I am a farmer and lime burner and I heartily recommend to everyone who has any trouble with his stomach to use these Tablets.

From Mrs. M. K. West, Preston, Minn.: I have received surprisingly good effects from using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I gave one-half of my last box to a friend who also suffered from indigestion, and she had the same good results.

From Mrs. Agnes K. Ralston, Cadillac, Mich.: I have been taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I am very much better, and feel very grateful for the great benefit I have received in so short a time.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a certain cure for all forms of Indigestion. They are not claimed to be a cure-all, but are prepared for stomach troubles only, and physicians and druggists everywhere recommend them to all persons suffering from Nervous Dyspepsia, sour or acid stomach, heartburn, bloating or wind in stomach and similar disorders.

ADOPT RESOLUTION FAVORING ELECTION BY POPULAR VOTE.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 11.—Senator Meek's resolution, declaring in favor of election of United States senators by popular vote, was unanimously adopted today. Senator Wood said that senators who could probably not be elected by the popular vote were blocking the president in his effort at rate legislation. The spectacle of one senator dying in disgrace and another convicted of a felony was before the country, he said, and showed the method of electing them should be changed.

LOST WIFE BUT NOT HER MONEY

PARAMOUR OF EBBING WOMAN SOUGHT TO DEFEAT CREDITORS AND LOST A LARGE FORTUNE.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 11.—A special to the Dispatch from Sioux City, Iowa, says:

"Because the man who eloped with his wife placed the fortune, which he subsequently accumulated, in her name, D. E. Douglass, a prosperous farmer residing six miles from Sioux City, has become possessed of great wealth.

"Fourteen years ago, Douglass's wife deserted him and joined G. S. Porter in California. Porter had formerly boarded with the Douglass family and had been ordered from his residence by Douglass, who discovered he was making love to Mrs. Douglass. Douglass did not attempt to pursue the eloping couple. He learned that they resided together in California as man and wife, and were rapidly accumulating a fortune.

"Four months ago, Douglass learned that his wife was dead. He consulted a local attorney, and upon his advice went to California to search for the property. In the end he located Porter at Los Angeles. He found that his wife had left property valued at $40,000, which Porter claimed as a legitimate inheritance.

"It seems that Porter, who was a truck driver in Omaha when he met the Douglass couple, had elected to keep the property in his wife's name, or, to be more exact, in the name of Mrs. Douglass, because there was an outstanding judgment against him. So far as the court records showed, Porter had no interest in the property, which his industry and management had accumulated. It all belonged to Mrs. Douglass.

"Douglass employed an attorney at Los Angeles and has just succeeded in having the courts decide that the estate left by Mrs. Douglass rightly belongs to him. Douglass has just returned to his Sioux City farm, bearing a copy of the decree of the court and bona fide evidence of title to $40,000 worth of Los Angeles property that formerly stood in his wife's name."

PRESIDENT INITIATED IN ORDER OF REDMEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—President Roosevelt today was made an honorary member of the Improved Order of Redmen. The ceremony took place in the president's private office at the White house and was participated in and witnessed by many prominent members of the order. The national officers of the organization called at the White house to present to the president an engrossed set of resolutions adopted at the national convention of the order at Nashville, Tenn., last September, commendatory of the president's efforts towards bringing about peace between Japan and Russia.

The order is 142 years old, and this was the first time an honorary degree was ever conferred.

ROGERS' DEFIANT ATTITUDE.

IF MR. H. H. ROGERS thinks he is winning any public sympathy for himself or the concern he represents by his insolent attitude toward Attorney-General Hadley, of Missouri, he has "another think coming." For reasons best known to itself the Standard Oil Company has never seen fit to regard public opinion as a thing of consequence, so it may be assumed that Mr. Rogers' course in the present case is merely a further exemplification of his long-established policy. But in these days, when the storm clouds are gathering thick around the devoted heads of the men who defy the law in their conduct of great corporate interests, the wise captain of industry is he who seeks to win public sympathy by frankly doing what he can to convince the people that his methods will bear the light of day. Mr. Rogers is doing exactly the reverse. By refusing to answer reasonable questions, which the Missouri investigator had a perfect right to ask, he is merely strengthening the opinion so long prevalent throughout the country, that there is something crooked in Standard Oil.

Attorney-General Hadley can afford to pass over the snubs and insults of the bold, bad man he is now trying to examine, for the people of his state have imposed a duty upon him and the rebuffs are merely a part of his work. He can ignore the contemptuous remark that he represents a state full of tobacco-chewers, and all of the cool insolence and patronizing air of the oil man. The little incidents of this character which are a daily feature of the investigation do not injure Mr. Hadley a particle; on the contrary he ought to be glad of them, for they inspire sympathy for him and unutterable contempt for Rogers. Despite the advice of his corps of attorneys, Rogers is "queering" his case about as fast as he can do so.

But the thing that is most injuring the Standard Oil case is the refusal of the witness to answer questions. Even a newspaper so mindful of the interests of Wall Street as the New York Sun comments disapprovingly on this phase of the matter. Says the Times:

"If Mr. Rogers' refusal to answer the questions put to him by the Special Commissioner of Missouri is not necessary, it is unwise. For it tends to confirm the existing public impression that the Standard Oil Company is a concern devoted to the attainment of unlawful ends by dark, secret, and midnight ways. If Mr. Rogers' refusal is necessary, then it must create an exceedingly strong impression that the case of the State of Missouri is well-founded. Each horn of the dilemma is sharp and has its special discomforts for Mr. Rogers.

"This is a perfectly reasonable view of the matter. The man who refuses to answer questions for fear of incriminating himself, thereby confesses his guilt. As an exchange remarks, this may not be law, but it is good, hard common sense. The course being followed by Mr. Rogers is convincing thousands of people that the Standard Oil Company is engaged in unlawful practices in Missouri and that his refusal to answer the questions put to him proves it. This may not be the correct conclusion, but if not, what other construction can be placed on his attitude?

"Incidentally, it may be said that such men as Mr. Rogers are the ones primarily responsible for the prevalent public feeling of distrust of great corporations. When a man who controls the workings of hundreds of millions of capital and the destinies of thousands of men, and through these agencies possesses the power to influence legislation, assumes a defiant attitude toward the public, it is only natural for the public to feel resentment. When such a man, being accused of violating the law, resorts to every device that can be invented by able lawyers to delay and prevent a full and free investigation, the aggravation of the people is increased, for they realize that in so doing he is confessing guilt and trying to evade its consequences. 'The public be damned' might have been an effective slogan in the time of Commodore Vanderbilt, but it will not 'go' with the people of today. Rogers seems to have adopted it as his motto, but he is likely before long to realize his mistake.

JAPAN'S WAR SALVAGE.

CHEATED, as they believe, out of a part of the spoils of their victory over Russia, the thrifty Japanese are sparing no effort to realize as much as possible on everything that fell into their hands. It is the purpose and ambition of the Mikado to make his nation the greatest naval power in the Pacific and one of the greatest in the world, so it is only natural that he should make the most of his chances for strengthening his fleet with the captured and sunken Russian warships. Very few of the total number of vessels lost by Rojestvensky and the other Muscovite commanders were captured, but nearly all of those which were sunk went down in shallow water. This would seem to make their recovery a comparatively easy matter. But it must be remembered that the big battleships which were sent to the bottom of Port Arthur harbor, as well as those lost in the Battle of the Sea of Japan, had been subjected to a galling fire and had sustained damages which greatly complicated the problem of raising them to the surface.

It is now a little more than a year since the surrender of Port Arthur, and in this time the Japanese have been busily engaged in raising and repairing the valuable Russian craft sunk in the harbor. These include both warships and merchantmen. Foreigners have been denied the privilege of entering the fortifications and harbor, so the world has had scant information as to what was going on inside, but it is now reported that the indefatigable Japanese have succeeded in bringing to the surface and repairing four Russian battleships, two cruisers, two gunboats and one destroyer, with a total displacement of 67,669 tons. Seven merchant vessels with an aggregate tonnage of 14,952 have also been saved. The cruiser Varyag sunk in the famous naval engagement of the war, has been raised from the bottom of Chemulpo harbor and salvage operations at Talienwan Bay and elsewhere have increased the total of ships raised and repaired to 88,100 tons.

When the war began Japan had seventy-six naval vessels of various kinds, with a total displacement of 278,872 tons, and at its close this navy was reduced to sixty-four vessels, aggregating 226,152 tons. Thirty-five merchantmen were lost to the Russians or captured in blockading operations. But to offset this loss is the gain of two battleships, two coast defense ships, two destroyers and fifty merchantmen captured, which, added to the vessels added to the fleet by salvage operations, leaves Japan two ships of four warships and twenty-four merchantmen.

Two Japanese battleships are now being built in England, but the most important increase to the navy is being made in the home dockyards, where two 18,000-ton battleships, four 14,000-ton armored cruisers, and thirty-two other war craft of various kinds are being constructed. It is estimated that two years from now the Japanese navy will consist of 118 vessels with a displacement of 472,624 tons, making it the third largest in point of displacement in the world. But even on paper it will not be the third most powerful, for this list includes many of the rebuilt Russian ships, most of which are already old and out of date. Considered as a whole, the United States now possesses the nearest and most thoroughly modern fleet in the world, but warships become old-fashioned at a surprising rate, and only by constant building and rebuilding can a fleet be kept up to date.

THE EIGHT-HOUR DAY AT PANAMA.

WHILE the Senate is investigating the general conduct of affairs at the Isthmus it might profitably take up the eight-hour day subject. Chairman Shonts, who certainly ought to know what he is talking about, has declared that the application of the eight-hour day rule will add 25 per cent to the cost of canal construction. Accepting the mean estimate of $200,000,000 as the cost of the Canal under normal conditions, this is equivalent to saying that $50,000,000 of the taxpayers' money will be unnecessarily expended for the benefit of a lot of ignorant and degraded Jamaican negroes who never heard of such a thing as an eight-hour day until they arrived at the Isthmus and were ready to go to work.

The Canal Commission has recommended that Congress suspend the eight-hour law as applied to labor on the Isthmus. It appears that out of 17,000 laborers now working at Panama only 1,500 are Americans, nearly all of the remainder being Jamaican negroes or other low-grade foreigners. Chairman Shonts says that under the most favorable conditions their efficiency is only 25 to 33 per cent of that of Americans, and a particularly aggravating phase of the matter is that they know nothing of the eight-hour day, and therefore do not expect to be benefited by it, until they reach the Isthmus. They go there expecting to work ten or twelve hours and fully satisfied to do so. But when they reach the scene of action they are informed that a rich and generous government is willing for them to work only eight hours and loaf the rest of the time. Naturally, they are perfectly willing to loaf, so long as it is at the expense of their employer.

The labor unions of this country, which are charged with the responsibility of securing the extension of the eight-hour law to canal construction, probably assumed their position in the belief that the work would be done by Americans, and that inasmuch as it was arduous and dangerous work at best, the laborers should enjoy the benefits of the short day. But it has long since been demonstrated that Americans can not and will not do the work to be done, and the Government must depend on native Panamans, Jamaican negroes and Chinese. The present wage varies from eighty cents to $1.04 a day in gold, and to apply the eight-hour day to such people is the sheerest folly, for it takes four of them to do as much work in eight hours as an intelligent American can accomplish in the same time.

There is no possibility of harm coming to American labor interests if the eight-hour law is suspended in Panama. On the contrary, they will be decidedly benefited, for they, in common with other interests, will have to pay the extra cost of the Canal entailed by this unwise legislation. The people of this country will have to go down into their pockets deep enough anyway to settle the Canal account, and just now, when Congress is trying to find ways to retrench, it ought to stop up this unnecessary leak.

Bob Fitzsimmons announces that he will sue the man who eloped with his wife for $50,000 damages, not that he needs the money, but because he wants a vindication. Meanwhile, where does the lady's vindication come in?

LIEUT. PIKE'S DIARY

For One Hundred Years Ago Today

Sunday, 13th January, 1806. We went out and met my men about sixteen miles distant. A tree had fallen on one of them and hurt him very much, which induced me to dismiss a sledge, and put the loading on the others.

A MAN OF TODAY.

The woman's committee now investigating life insurance in New York—Mr. Charles E. Hughes, has become a figure of national prominence. He subtends an unusually large angle of public interest. He has not acquired this largeness of distinction through any artificial methods. Through any accident of fortune, for we do not believe that it was an accident so much as an inspiration, that called him to the great service that he is now rendering the American people. Unlike some candidate for public office that we not of, he didn't jump into the arena with a rush of wheels, a waving of banners and a flourish of trumpets, to exclaim "Behold me! I am the man you need and I shall pull every wire and work every wheele until you take me."

On the contrary, modesty has been the characteristic of his methods. He undertook a task of the magnitude and delicacy of which few men, even among those who have followed closely the conducting of his work, have any adequate conception. Perhaps he did not himself realize how formidable was the undertaking in which he engaged until he found himself in medias res. But he has not recoiled from any difficulties nor shrunk from any responsibilities. It has doubtless been a good thing for him as well as for the public. It is a kind of work that adds to the growth of the men engaged in it, whether it is Folk in Missouri, Weaver in Philadelphia, or Jerome and Hughes in New York. The forces of evil are fair game and those who have the knightly qualities to conduct an effective crusade against them are themselves broadened, quickened and ennobled by the exercise. Men have to wait for opportunities sometimes before they can take the measure even of themselves, and in this case the public has learned it as soon as Mr. Hughes himself.

He is a man of whom the public would like to know much more than it does, and so his appearance this week at a dinner of the New York University alumni had special interest for those who attended, and even for the less favored who, through the reports of the exercises were able to get fleeting notes of what was said around the mahogany. In his remarks he guarded well his professional line of procedure. He was not betrayed into any impropriety of utterance, but he did venture to discuss some fundamental principles, the observance of which by the men who have had to meet his searching questioning would have made the sensational developments of the last few months unnecessary and impossible.

"I believe," said Mr. Hughes, "in the soundness of American life, and yet I know we need an illumination of vision to see the multitude who will not bow the knee to greed, nor betray a trust, nor falter in the presence of an opportunity for evil. This is a time for a searching of hearts, a time for repentance and resolve, when we need a revival of the sense of honor and a better perspective. . . . It is a time when we want more of chivalry, more of the spirit of knighthood, that . . . feels a stain like a wound." And he added: "College men are the very ones to whom we ought to look for men who will never mistake true manhood." And this man who stands at the focus of the rays in the white light that has been shrinking and withering reputations, was once a college professor, and never has found another service that pleased him so well. But Hyde and Alexander are out, and McCurdy is out, and now we are told that Perkins and McCall are about to go, while scores of other men have forfeited the confidence and respect that they enjoyed a year ago, because of his clear, logical, unflinching probing of their business records, whereby he has condemned them out of their own mouths.—Boston Transcript.

MAY BE LYNCHING BEE.

That we will capture the persons who are attempting to destroy Canon City by fire is a matter that will tax the intelligence of the force of men now specially detailed for the work, as against the cunning of the incendiaries. There are, of course, many theories as to the person or persons and the motive for the evident passion, degeneracy or what not for starting the fires. The popular sentiment insists that there is one person and that he is a man of weak mental balance. The more thoughtful men of the community are of the opinion that there are at least three men involved in this crime, and the latter seems to be the most reasonable conclusion after figuring out the fact of the fires being lighted at nearly the same time.

We do not advocate Lynch law, but under these circumstances it may be a safe forecast to say that our officers would be a mighty busy force of men if this firebug or firebugs were captured red-handed in their dirty work.—Canon City Clipper.

Crusade Against the Land Frauds

THE annual report of the secretary of the interior contains some extraordinary information in regard to frauds committed against the Government in connection with the public lands, says William E. Curtis in the Chicago Record-Herald. We have read a good deal about them in the newspapers, and have seen an entire congressional delegation—with one exception—convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for such crimes. And anyone who is familiar with the development of the far west knows that it is not considered sinful to steal the public domain or the public timber or rob the government or the Indians in that way. It is almost impossible to convict anybody for such offenses in any court west of the Mississippi river. Not only juries, but judges are sympathetic, and when a man gets caught robbing the government his neighbors come to his defense and assistance, and either acquit him of the indictment or impose so light a sentence that it is no penalty at all, and has no effect in preventing others from committing the same crimes. There was a remarkable illustration of this fact in Nebraska only a few weeks ago. The secretary of the interior alludes to it with italics and double exclamation points in his report to congress. He says:

"After some years of effort and an expenditure of several thousand dollars Bartlett Richards and William G. Comstock, who, through the Nebraska Land and Feeding company—it is alleged—maintained an unlawful inclosure of more than a quarter of a million acres of public land, were indicted and brought before the courts recently for trial. They pleaded guilty, and after consideration of the matter the court imposed a fine in each case of $3, and sentenced the defendants to the custody of the marshal for six hours."

No Crime to Rob Government.

The marshal appointed their attorney to serve sentence to take charge of them and, according to reports received at Washington, the six hours were spent in a jollification over the action of the court. The president has removed the marshal from office for this gross violation of the proprieties, and he deeply regrets that it is not in his power to remove the judge who was guilty of this travesty of justice. It is considered by the president and all concerned as a reproach to the dignity of the American judiciary, and an invitation to all whom it may concern within that jurisdiction to commit the same crime which Bartlett Richards and William G. Comstock admit that they were guilty of this travesty of justice. It is influential men, and yet they lose no respect among the public, and confidence in their character is not impaired by their confession that they knowingly robbed the government. If they had stolen a dollar from a pocketbook, or if they had run off a steer from their neighbor's pasture, they would probably have been lynched; but the penalty for robbing the government is a nominal fine of $3 and six hours of companionship with their own lawyer.

When such things occur it is not surprising that seventy-five special agents have to be employed by the land office to investigate similar offenses. But their labor seems to be largely wasted. Last year the government recovered only $7,287.82 as fines imposed and judgments rendered in several hundred cases of timber-selling and other depredations upon the public domain. On the 1st of July, 1905, there were pending in the United States courts sixty-six civil suits for the recovery of $1,555,803.56—for stolen timber alone—and yet it is scarcely possible that five per cent of this amount will be recovered by prosecution. And so far as criminal cases are concerned, the experience of Secretary Hitchcock and his assistants has been very discouraging, except in Oregon, where everybody knows that sensational proceedings were followed by the conviction of the late Senator Mitchell, Representative Hermann and Representative Williamson, the latter two of whom are now awaiting the decision of appeals to higher courts.

Difficult to Secure Convictions.

The following statement will show the difficulty which confronts the officers of the government in trying to protect "the heritage of the people" as some one has called the public lands. You will notice the extraordinary difference between the number of indictments and the number of convictions in the states named:

In California and Kansas many more indictments than above stated have been returned, but the names have not yet been reported. Secretary Hitchcock says that all of the indictments pending will be prosecuted by the department of justice with the least possible delay, and be advanced as rapidly as the dockets of the respective courts will permit.

This extraordinary record is due to public opinion, which makes it impossible, in most cases, to convict or punish anyone for helping himself to the public timber or public lands. Very seldom can a jury be found with sufficient sense of justice or moral courage to convict a neighbor of robbing the government—and, that means the public at large. It is not difficult to get evidence of the crimes. In almost every case the offense is committed openly; the robberies do not occur in the night. Every citizen in the locality knows that John Doe is cutting timber on government land, and that Richard Roe has fenced in a large tract of pasture for his cattle. Nor do they see any objection to it. Nobody but the government owns the property; nobody but the public has any interest in it. Why, therefore, should it lie idle when John Doe and Richard Roe need it in their business? That is the logic of the situation, and when rich men like Bartlett Richards and William G. Comstock want public property they have no difficulty in finding plenty of people willing to help them get it.

The indictments in the prairie states are for the inclosure of public domain; the indictments in the mountain states, the gulf and Pacific states are chiefly for stealing timber and fraudulent entries of timber lands. There is no law to prohibit anyone from pasturing his cattle or sheep on the public domain, provided he does not prevent other people from enjoying the same privilege. But when the land is fenced in and that privilege is denied to the public generally a crime punishable by fine and imprisonment—is committed. In that light it seems strange that public sentiment should justify such offenses against the neighborhood.

JAPAN'S EXPLOSIVE STORING.

Not only has Japan a large and increasing ocean marine of her own, but one of her shipping companies, the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, now has thirty-four ocean-going steamships of 77,[illegible] aggregate tonnage under charter. Of these, fifteen, of 45,736 tons, are British; seven, of 10,[illegible] tons, Norwegian, two, of 3,762 tons, German; in other words, twenty-four foreign ships of 59,[illegible] tons are necessary to this one company, besides its own very large fleet, owned and hired, of Japanese vessels for its share (carrying) of Japan's great and growing commerce.

1906 MARKS THE HIGH TIDE OF PROSPERITY.

Never before in all the country's history has it been so prosperous as it is at the opening of 1906. The products of its farms for 1905 amounted to over $6,000,000,000. This is not only several times larger than the products of any other country, but it marks a gain of $250,000,000 over the highest previous record in the United States, which was for 1904. The yield of the country's farms in 1905 equaled the country's aggregate wealth of all sorts for 1845. The country's gold mines furnished $90,000,000 for 1905, which was $10,000,000 in excess of the largest previous year, and double the output of 1895. Its mineral products of all sorts for the year aggregated $1,800,000,000, which is twice that of 1899 and four times that of 1886. In gold production in 1905 we led the world, except the Rand, in South Africa. In mineral output in the aggregate we exceed that of Great Britain, Germany and France.

For 1905 the country's foreign trade passed the $2,500,000,000 mark for the first time, but our domestic trade was immeasurably in excess of this, being far above $20,000,000,000. We produced 22,500,000 tons of pig iron in the year, or as much as our three nearest competitors combined—Great Britain, Germany, and France. In manufactures, in which we have had a precedence over England since 1880, and have been increasing our lead ever since, the country has been particularly active in the year. The country's railroads, which exceed those of all Europe in mileage by about 25 per cent, have been scoring new records in earnings and activity. More than $3,500,000,000 has been added to the wealth of the United States since January 1, 1905, bringing the total up to $115,000,000,000, which exceeds that of any other two countries in the world put together.—Leslie's Weekly.

METAL PRICES INCREASING.

The price of metals is increasing and this is particularly noteworthy in the case of silver and copper. The white metal sold at 65⅝ cents in New York in December, just as the United States treasury eased the coinage of silver dollars. The price is the highest recorded since 1896. At the same time copper was selling at 17⅞ cents a pound, or four cents higher than it was something over a year ago. The constant increase in electrical machinery has caused a steadily increased demand for copper, and this demand has increased faster than the production. There is no doubt that the great mines of the Superior region, under the control of the copper trust, could mine copper faster if they chose. It is simply a matter of putting in more machinery, enlarging shafts and driving more levels. But they are in business to make money, and prefer to sell copper at 18 cents, rather than to spend a million or more to increase their production, only to bring the price down again to 12 cents. This is human. Evidently the copper business has reached the stage long ago attained in coal mining, where the production is carefully regulated to meet the demand.

Some minerals such as diamonds, give off light when rubbed together. Sir William Crookes says that he has prepared an artificial sulphide of zinc which is more luminescent under friction than any natural mineral.

Mrs. Roy Reasoner, 918 North El Paso street, has returned from a visit to Missouri and Kansas. While at Wamego, Kan., she had a thrilling experience with an earthquake. People ran into the streets full of an awful fear that the world was coming to an end. "The emotions resulting from the terrible sensation of an earthquake are something indescribable," Mrs. Reasoner said, "and something never forgotten when once experienced. We were thankful to come out of the shake-up alive."

EXCHANGE PLANS DIFFERENT FORM OF GOVERNMENT

REAL ESTATE MEN DISCUSSED NEW MEASURE LAST NIGHT. ELECTION DEFERRED UNTIL FEB. 16.

An important change in its government is being considered by the Colorado Springs Real Estate exchange. The Exchange is now governed by a board of directors and the change contemplated is to place the government in the hands of the entire membership of the exchange.

The measure was discussed at length at a meeting held in the offices of the Henry LeB. Willis company last night. If such a measure is adopted, a monthly meeting attended by a quorum must be held. That this can be done successfully has been demonstrated by the Merchants association which takes up every important piece of work in committee of the whole.

Final action was deferred until the adjourned annual meeting to be held in the same offices the evening of February 16, when the annual election of officers will also be held. The reports of the officers will be handed in to the exchange within a few days.

COUNTY COURT MAKES RECORD AS TO FEES

Merton Stubbs, clerk of the county court, turned over to the county treasurer yesterday the sum of $1,742, this amount being surplus fees earned by the county court over and above all expenses during the year 1905. This is the largest surplus turned over to the county since El Paso county was divided.

PRESIDENT SLOCUM PAYS A TRIBUTE TO DEPARTED HEAD OF UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

President Slocum spoke to the college students yesterday morning at chapel about President Harper of the University of Chicago. Dr. Harper visited Colorado college a number of years ago, spending several days as the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Slocum. At that time he gave the dedicatory address of the Coburn library, which was afterward published and has been regarded as one of his ablest academic utterances. For a number of years he has been a warm friend of Colorado college and has repeatedly expressed great faith in its future.

A Great Loss.

Mr. Slocum spoke of the great loss that has come to the college and university world in the death of this distinguished scholar and administrative officer. That which affects a leading institution of the higher learning appeals to others throughout the whole land. Dr. Harper has not only been a great administrative officer, but also a great instructor and with all the enormous burdens of directing the affairs of this university he has maintained his position as one of the teachers of the university. There is a demand in some places that a college or university president should give his time to the material side, and fill his life with endless details that tend to debase and destroy the function of spiritual and intellectual leadership. The loss that comes to colleges because of this is beyond estimate.

Intellectual Leader.

Dr. Harper, with all the endless things he had to do in the creation and direction of the affairs of a great educational foundation, held a place of intellectual leadership. It means much that those who supported the university made it possible for him to do this, and it means still more that President Harper maintained his position as an intellectual force and as a teacher. His greatest power was in his holding to this in face of all the tremendous pressure of administrative duties. His subject is not supposed to be a popular one, yet he created thousands of enthusiastic students all over the country. Hundreds and hundreds of men and women have been stimulated to intellectual effort because of his influence and enthusiasm.

Still better, he was a man who carried an enormous amount of work and never talked about it. One never heard him complain of how much he had to do. He worked hard and never said anything about it. One always found him cheerful and kindly with leisure to talk over whatever was worth while.

Lesson of a Brave Life.

The greatest lesson comes from the last months of his brave life. He knew what was before him and [illegible] plaint he went on [illegible] his work, and, like a great [illegible] on his tasks till the end [illegible]. While others would have given up and bewailed their condition, he clung to his daily work, and persisted to the end by performing the tasks [illegible] touching from hour to hour. There is something heroic in the struggle of these last months and the story of these days indicate the character of the man. What can be finer than to see a brave man stand to his task, do his work without complaint, without whine, take each day as it comes and finish his life with his [illegible] self-respect.

Dr. Slocum spoke of Dr. Harper's never failing interest in Colorado college and his faith in its future. Busy as he was with many affairs, he took time to speak kind and helpful words that have [illegible] the burdens have been heavier. He has for years been a good friend of our college. It is often true that the hardest worked man is the one to whom the greatest dependence can be placed. He came all the way from Chicago to give the address of dedication of the Coburn library and his large and sympathetic mind saw the possibilities here and again and again spoke of them to others. His great address was given in the basement of the library when the college was much smaller than it is today, and when its equipment was most inadequate, but he saw its future and has watched its development with constant interest and with a definite knowledge of each step that has been taken.

Faith in Colorado College.

Only last year he went out of his way to do a great favor for Colorado college which will never be forgotten. When burdens have been most heavy it is the remembrance of such kindness and such sympathetic helpfulness that gives courage and makes one do his task. His interest in Colorado college was the outgrowth of his large mind and also his willingness to take definite steps to find out about it.

In closing Dr. Slocum spoke of the unusual devotion which he manifested to the University of Chicago and to its large interests. He did not stop to think about himself. He worked gladly and most loyally for it. He found his greatest moral and intellectual capacity in such devotion and also his largest pleasure in life. It was this devotion and this loyalty to a great purpose that indicated his character. The work which had been given him to do was first, and all else had to be adjusted to that. It is such work that makes life worth living and such devotion is the test of a man's character.

T. J. FISHER RE-ELECTED

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED INDORSING THE REORGANIZATION OF UNITED STATES CONSULAR SERVICE.

President—T. J. Fisher.
First Vice President—E. W. Giddings.
Second Vice President—J. R. McKinnie.
Treasurer—C. L. Hemming.
Secretary — Henry Russell Wray.

These are the officers who will serve the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce for the ensuing year. They were elected at a meeting of the directors held in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon. Each officer was re-elected at the wish of the entire membership of the directorate and of the chamber at large.

The directors went on record at this meeting as being in entire concurrence with the movement for a reorganization of the United States consular service now being agitated by Senator Lodge and other leaders. The idea is to place this important branch of government work under some such comprehensive system as that under which the present civil service bureau operates. Resolutions indorsing this plan were passed.

Secretary Wray was authorized to attend the "See America First" conference to be held at Salt Lake City, January 25. The idea of this gathering is to devise some means of impressing upon rich Americans the advisability of seeing the wonders of their own country before going abroad. Tom Johnson, head of the big Commercial club of Portland, has suggested that thirty leading descriptive writers of the country be taken in a special car to every bright spot in America and that they then be turned loose with their pens to conduct an educational campaign through some adequate newspaper or magazine syndicate.

COAL MINER IS BADLY CRUSHED

CAUGHT BY MASS OF COAL WEIGHING ABOUT FOUR TONS AND MAY NOT RECOVER.

While mining by hand at the Monument Valley coal mines yesterday morning, James T. Grady, a resident of this city for the last two months, was caught beneath a rolling mass of coal and perhaps fatally injured. He was taken to the Glockner sanatorium where he did not regain consciousness until late last night. The extent of his injuries have not yet been determined. It is feared that he may be hurt internally. It is estimated that the mass of coal which fell on him weighed four tons.

COURT NEWS

As the result of an argument between D. S. Gilmore and John F. Cassidy a few days ago the latter was arrested yesterday upon a warrant issued by Justice Ruby charging him with threatening to break the peace. Mr. Cassidy was released upon his own bond in the sum of $250 to appear for hearing next Tuesday, January 16.

Justice Ruby yesterday dismissed the case of the People vs. John Moseley, charged with assault and battery, at the cost of the complaining witness.

The first session of the police court for over a week was held yesterday morning when five prisoners were arraigned before Judge A. P. Toombs. J. J. Shea, Wm. Davis and H. Price were found guilty of vagrancy. The two former were fined $15 and costs and the latter $5 and costs, all three were committed to the rock pile. Wm. Thompson, for vagrancy, and Levi Nottinger, for being intoxicated, were given suspended sentences of $5 and costs.

MANITOU WATER TO BE STANDARD OF THE COUNTRY

D. V. DONALDSON HAS ESTABLISHED BRANCHES OF MANITOU SPRINGS CO. IN LARGE EASTERN CITIES.

To make Manitou water the standard mineral water of America is the purpose of D. V. Donaldson, former president of the Colorado Springs Mining exchange. To that end Mr. Donaldson has just completed a four months' tour of the principal eastern cities and has returned to Colorado Springs to report the result of his observations. He met with the widest encouragement on every hand. The largest water dealer in the country told him there was no reason why Manitou water should not be the standard mineral water of the United States in a comparatively brief time.

While on his tour Mr. Donaldson established branch houses of the Manitou Mineral Springs company at Pittsburg, Philadelphia and Atlantic City. The latter store will not be opened until February 1. It is on the famous board walk. The Pittsburg house is at 417 Oliver avenue, while that in Philadelphia is at 1609 Chestnut street. Mr. Donaldson will establish other houses in Chicago, New York city, Boston and other central points. The water will be shipped in carload lots. The price will be as reasonable as that of Apollinaris or White Rock. Ginger champagne and Manitou mineral water, plain, are the only two brands to be sold.

"The general use of this mineral water will give Colorado Springs and Manitou lots of advertising of the most desirable quality. Mr. Donaldson will leave for the east to further prosecute the sale of the local springs product in a few days."

General Palmer has always been at the head of the Manitou Mineral Springs company and is deeply interested in the results to be obtained by pushing the sale of the water.

Mr. Donaldson has been at the head of a number of large undertakings and has never failed to make a solid success of any large endeavor. At the time of his resignation as president of the local mining exchange his friends knew him to be figuring on a deal of magnitude, but the exact nature of it never became public until his return yesterday from the east. His friends believe that he has an option upon the Manitou springs property or at least upon a large interest in it.

TO SPEND $15,000 ON MANITOU BATH HOUSE

At a cost of more than $15,000 the bath house on the property of the Manitou Mineral Springs company is to be so extensively remodeled as to obviate the necessity of an entirely new building for many years. To the building there will be extensions and additions, while more tubs will be placed within it and the pool will be enlarged. The building will be made as fine and as commodious as a new one and will have the advantage of the present site, which is far more convenient and attractive than any other available. The new site contemplated was in the vicinity of the Mansions.

WESTERN FREIGHT MEN VISIT CITY TOMORROW

Eighty members of the Western Classification association, on their way to the annual convention at Los Angeles, will be in Colorado Springs for several hours Saturday. The party travels in a special car and is to leave Kansas City today. The visitors will arrive in this city early tomorrow morning and will leave at 10 o'clock via the Colorado Midland for Los Angeles.

The meeting will last about two weeks and will be held in conjunction with the shippers association. At this meeting the railroad freight men agree on the various classifications of freight. Fred Wild of the D. & R. G. and H. C. Bush of the Midland will accompany the party from this city and will represent Colorado at the Los Angeles meeting.

The entire day was occupied in securing a jury, and when court adjourned at 5 o'clock the following jurors had been agreed upon:

T. C. Andrews, ranchman, Ellicott.

A. F. Conner, grocer, 814 East Platte avenue.

James T. Lemon, clerk, Calhan.

S. J. Britton, mail-carrier, 1013 North Walnut street.

The taking of testimony will be commenced this morning, and as there are not many witnesses the evidence upon both sides will probably all be submitted by adjournment of court tonight.

P. L. THORSON ENLARGES HIS CRIPPLE CREEK INTERESTS.

The passing of one of the oldest and most substantial business houses in the city was consummated yesterday by the formal transfer of the store of the Shilling Dry Goods company, located since 1898 in the Fairley-Lampman building at Third street and Bennett avenue, to the Bazaar Dry Goods company, whose store has been located at 208-214 Bennett avenue for the past four years.

The Shilling dry goods establishment of which A. B. Shilling is president and general manager, was purchased by the Bazaar company for a consideration approximating $50,000, neither party to the transaction being able to state the exact amount until the completion of the invoicing, which will occupy the whole of next week. The Shilling store will not open its doors Monday, but will be closed for the work of itemizing the large stock of goods on its shelves.

The Bazaar Dry Goods company is one of the most successful business institutions in the city, P. L. Thorsen being president and general manager and John P. Pitkin, resident manager, secretary and treasurer.—Cripple Creek Times.

RICH STREAK IN THE ROSE MAUD

LESSEE SHARPE PROSPECTED, FOUND ORE AND THEN SECURED LEASE ON THE PROPERTY.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—Lease of the Rose Maud claim situated near the Colorado Boss, the Peggy, the Anaconda and others of valuable surrender in the southeast section of Gold hill, has been taken by John Sharpe, an operator of several important achievements.

Before leasing the ground Mr. Sharpe prospected and revealed the presence of considerable ore worth as much as $1,000 to the ton. This material lies in a narrow streak and within a body opened by predecessors. Beside the streak is a shoot two feet wide having a content in yellow metal that varies from pay to two ounces. It is believed by Mr. Sharpe that this body can be made to surrender a profit if care is exercised in its removal. Another vein in the same locality promises much. Both were made to contribute by former operators. It is also believed that an extension of the Peggy flat vein, one from which over $100,000 worth of ore has been taken, may be found within the claim. The shaft has a depth of about 240 feet.

SHIPPING FROM COBB SHAFT ON GOLD HILL

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—Shipments are being made by Morgan and associates, lessees, from the Cobb shaft of the Mizpah-Anchor property, situated near the summit of Gold hill. A carload sent to market today is expected to yield in the neighborhood of $40 in gold to the ton. Ore is being broken from a shoot having a width of two to five feet. It is being followed by drift and raise.

AFTER LONG SEARCH LESSEES FIND SHOOT IN REBECCA MINE

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—A search for ore lasting for many weeks has ended at the Rebecca mine of Poverty gulch, in the discovery of a good shoot by J. H. S. Fox and L. T. Dearborn, lessees. During the period of exploration a vein was followed for considerable distance. Recently its quality underwent improvement and during the week a condition of superiority succeeded. The shoot has a width of 18 inches at the breast and yields $40 in gold to the ton under fire test. It is believed that further advance will evoke greater width.

SHOOT IN THE ORPHA MAY STILL SUPPLIES ORE

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—The shoot struck on the tenth and thirteenth levels of the Orpha May mine, by Sill and Starkweather and by sublessees, has been proved for considerable distance. It has surrendered several carloads and promises to respond for an indefinite period. The same body is being sought on the fifteenth level. The lessees and several sets of sublessees are breaking ore. Producers range [illegible] from two carloads a week.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—A mining deed filed today shows transfers of an interest in the Leo and Bessie claims of Ironclad hill, measuring three acres, from J. W. RUMORED THAT THE EL PASO HAS STREAK OF SOLID SYLVANITE

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—The news has leaked out that the El Paso company, while drifting in the vein in the bottom level, has encountered a streak of almost solid sylvanite, varying from an inch to an inch and a half in width. Great secrecy is maintained concerning the rich find and no news of it has so far been made public. The company is now crowding the work of installing a big pump in the bottom level and that 1,000 feet below the surface, but whether they intend tapping the C. K. & N. vein can not be learned.

Tillery & Co., who are operating the C. O. D. under lease, have encountered a small streak of ore in the ninth level. This level has but recently been extended and this ore is the first to be found.

Just ten carloads of ore have been shipped from the Banner on Rosebud hill. So far it has averaged between $30 and $40 in gold to the ton.

Operations on the Colorado City claim of the Arizona company are being pushed in the 200-foot level, where drifting is in progress in a small streak of ore.

There are rumors current that a big apex suit is likely to be instituted shortly. It is said that considerable work is in progress on one of the Raven hill properties in the endeavor to establish an apex over one of the largest ore shoots being worked on that hill.

IRREGULARITY MARRED CLOSE OF THE CALL

PROFIT-TAKING STILL IN EVIDENCE ON NEW YORK MARKET—FEATURES A MIXED LIST.

NEW YORK Jan 11—There was evidence again today of the resumption of activity by organized parties in the speculation of the kind which conducted the aggressive advance up to the first of the year and which has been supposed to control the market in the interest of the recent profit-taking. That profit-taking was still in evidence today but its effect on prices was not so general as that of yesterday. The average level of the market was above that of yesterday and gains on special stocks were pronounced. The volume of dealing expanded materially.

The stocks which made up the features of the day's market were a mixed list of high grade seasoned dividend payers among railroads and of low-priced stocks paying small dividends or none at all, both among railroads and industrials, some of the industrial stocks running into a decidedly low grade.

There was a wide intervening gap in the list among the available market leaders, and these were sluggish and rather neglected throughout. The renewed advance in Union Pacific to a record level was the most effective sustaining influence in the market. Increased dividend executions were the factors.

The movement in the lower grade stocks was accompanied in some instances by instances of improved earnings and revived merger rumors. The market took on great animation late in the day and many favorites among the low grade stocks were rushed into prominence. Amalgamated Copper drew off its earlier restraint, but the character of the market was not especially changed.

The closing was generally strong but there were some irregular spots on realizing.

Bonds were steady. Total sales, par value $3,710,000. United States 2s coupon advanced ½ per cent on call.

WHEAT OPENED WEAK, GAINING AT THE CLOSE

NEWS FROM ARGENTINE OFFSET HEAVY MOVEMENT IN NORTHWEST, STRENGTHENING WARKET.

CHICAGO, Jan 11—The wheat market opened weak because of large increases of stocks at Minneapolis selling by commission houses and increased arrivals at Duluth.

Later however, came the news from Argentine which was sufficient to offset the heavy movement in the northwest. Reports regarding the wheat crop of the South American republic were in circulation at the opening but they were somewhat indefinite.

Toward the middle of the session however reports were received which estimated the damage to the crop by excessive rains to be 20 per cent of the entire yield. This caused active buying by shorts and commission houses and a sharp upturn followed.

In addition to the news from Argentina came reports of an improved demand for flour and of a strong feeling in cash wheat at all outside markets.

Trading was active during the last half of the session and the market closed strong with prices at almost the highest point of the day. May opened unchanged to a shade higher, at 87⅝@⅞ to 87⅝, sold off to 87½ and then advanced to 88⅛. Final quotations were at 88⅛@¼.

Small local receipts and an improved demand from exporters caused a firm tone in the corn market. Offerings were moderate. The market closed firm. May opened unchanged to ⅛c higher, at 45 to 45⅛ sold to 45⅛@⅜ and closed at 45¼.

Trading in oats was of small volume, but market held firm throughout the day. The strength of wheat and the prospect of an increasing export business held prices steady. May opened unchanged to a shade higher, at 32¼ to 32¼@⅜, sold up to 32⅜ and closed at the highest point of the day.

Provisions were strong after somewhat easier feeling at the opening. Continued heavy shipments of hog products and many buying orders from outside caused the improvement. At the close May pork was up 15@17½, at $14.30. Lard was up 2½@5c, at $7.72½. Ribs were 5@7½c higher, at $7.70.

PERSONAL.

IN THE SUIT OF
JAMES DOYLE VS. JAMES F. BURNS.

I feel that in the state of Colorado there are a hundred people or more familiar with the personal relations existing between James F. Burns and myself during the years 1901, 2 and 3 who would cheerfully, aid and assist me with the facts that they are possessed of—but withhold them because they do not know how I would receive their tenders of the same. I want to say here that I will appreciate all such tenders, and receive them in the proper spirit. I am after all evidence that I can use to establish the fact that we were partners during the years mentioned. I wish to say that I am a long way from being licked and hope to be able to offset the power of the money that belongs to me with which he is fighting me by a mass of evidence that will make him lay down and do the right thing.

"UNCLE JOSH SPRUCEBY."

Recognizing the tendency of the times to cheaper prices for sensible, healthy amusements, the managers of the "Uncle Josh Spruceby" company, which appears at the Opera house Saturday matinee and night, have decided to appear this season at popular prices. The wisdom of this move appears to have been justified by the packed houses that greet the company everywhere. The play is an enjoyable New England comedy-drama, and for the past nine years has appeared only at popular prices all over the country. Special scenery, the great sawmill scene, the big operatic orchestra, and a first class company are still carried, and no attempt has been made to cheapen the attraction on account of playing at popular prices. Matinee prices will be: Children, 25 cents; adults, 50 cents. Evening prices will be 25c, 50c, 75c and $1.

CHARLES B. HANFORD IN "THE MERCHANT OF VENICE."

In the forthcoming production of "The Merchant of Venice," at the Opera house on Monday evening, Charles B. Hanford will be seen in a character quite distinct from the comedy roles in which he has been winning so much favor, and yet one in which his personality and previous experience eminently adapt him. Mr. Hanford is one of the few recognized interpreters of the Shakespearean drama now before the public. His performances are not merely the product of a passing ambition to play one of the celebrated roles of the classics, but the result of a life time of devotion to dramatic art in its highest forms, together with extraordinary natural gifts and opportunities of association and study such as few players can claim. "The Merchant of Venice" is one of the most interesting and widely studied of any of Shakespeare's plays. The interpretation of the character of Shylock has commanded the highest art of the great players and Mr. Hanford's conception will be especially interesting, as his performances are always sane, lucid and human, though never lacking in emotional intensity and poetic feeling. In the hands of Mr. Hanford, Shylock should be a splendidly impressive picture. The character of Portia, too, should give Miss Marie Droffah thoroughly congenial opportunities.

"AROUND THE TOWN."

We are to have at the Opera house next Tuesday evening "Around the Town," a new comedy. The mere announcement that such a comedy is coming under ordinary circumstances would not create any more than passing notice, but when it is known that our old friends, Murray and Mack, are at the head of the organization, local admirers of this famous team will, no doubt, begin to sit up and take notice. This is the most pretentious offering Murray and Mack have ever attempted, and their success along the line this season has been gratifying. Whilst they have always been a record breaking attraction, judging from newspaper exchanges, their success this season exceeds all previous efforts. This will make Murray and Mack's fourteenth consecutive season as stars at the head of their own organization, a record which has never been duplicated in farce comedy history. While Murray and Mack are comparatively young men, they are, with three or four exceptions, in point of continual activity together, the oldest team before the public. An entire new equipment of scenery and a complete set of new gowns have been provided for the chorus, and the stars promise a fully bristling entertainment.

"THE MASTERY OF FATE."

"Telepathy," the "subconscious mind," the "astral form of thought," "dual personality," and all the various phases of psychic study are subjects of general conversation at the present time owing to the visit here of Dr. Alexander J. McIvor-Tyndall, the president of the International Psychic Science alliance.

The two lectures so far given here by the celebrated psychist in Majestic hall have attracted large audiences. "Proofs of Immortality," the subject of the lecture Sunday evening, will doubtless prove extraordinarily attractive to a very large proportion of thinkers. Dr. McIvor-Tyndall will deal with convincing manifestations of the existence after death of the individual soul and may be relied upon to give some particularly interesting information anent the much discussed question of individual immortality. This question, by the way, is one that materialistic science has yet to deal with and it is being agitated on all sides during the present revival of interest in psychic science.

In addition to the lecture, which will undoubtedly attract an immense audience, there will be an entertaining and mystifying program of psychic manifestations, including thought transference, clairvoyance and the soul sense called psychometry.
